

🍷🍷🍷 Winegrowing areas

- Q Pebbly colluvium on Miocene hillsides
- U
- A
- T Pebbly colluvium on slopes of Crapon
- E
- R
- N Moderately weathered stones on the Terrasse de Bellerive = Terrasse du Plan de Dieu
- A
- R
- Y Weathered stones on the very old Ouvèze terrace, localised on the hill of Crapon

- T PLIOCENE: fine blue sandy marl, and fine marly sand (with sea shells)
- E
- R Continental Late MIOCENE (river and lake deposits): at the bottom, a thin layer of marine blue marl (end of the Miocene sea); at the top, red palaeosoils (dry Mediterranean climate)
- T
- I
- A
- R MIOCENE (Serravallian): fine sandstone in latticed layers (strong coastal currents); these form the marine "safres" of Comtat Venaissin, corresponding to Dauphiné or Swiss molasse
- Y